COMMENTS & REASON FOR DECISION:

The aff constructed a reasonable, well-argued case for solar power on a practical policy level. Unfortunately, this isn't a debate about practicality, and the mindset critique presented by the neg was the definitive, albeit impractical, factor here. Aff wasn't able to solve for this root cause of the problem, and ended up conceding too much that their case couldn't solve for. Both sides were well-researched and presented well, it was a tough decision to make.
